

Colby Yeary

Mission Assurance Officer

Colby Yeary serves as Mission Assurance officer for PanTeXas Deterrence, LLC, the management and operating contractor for the Pantex Plant in Amarillo, Texas. He joined Pantex in 2005.

In this role, Yeary serves as the senior executive officer.

In his previous role serving as Pantex site manager, he oversaw operations at the plant to sustain a safe, secure, and effective nuclear deterrent. Prior to that, Yeary served as chief operating officer for administrative and operational functions of Pantex and Y-12.

Yeary also served as the executive action officer for Pantex Production Optimization and he led a cross-functional team tasked with maximizing weapons deliverables. Yeary also served as vice president for Mission Engineering. In this role, he led more than 1,400 engineers, scientists, and contracted staff at Pantex and Y-12.

Previously, Yeary was the deputy manager for Mission Engineering. Before joining Mission Engineering, Yeary was the senior director of Stockpile Programs within Program Integration. He was responsible for the successful execution of weapons development and sustainment activities in accordance with the scope, schedule, quality, and cost expectations for a roughly $750 million portfolio. Additionally, has experience in Program Management, Project Management, Operations, and Weapons Engineering. He has had management responsibilities at both Pantex and Y-12 since the start of the Consolidated Nuclear Security, LLC management and operating contractor.

Prior to joining Pantex, Yeary served in a variety of engineering and project management capacities with Chevron.

He proudly supports the local community as a board member of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

Yeary earned a Master of Business Administration from the University of Nebraska and a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering from Texas Tech University.